

Get it Write!

Edition 24 Summer 2022

Welcome to Get it Write, Aldermoor Farm Primary School's literary magazine. Or 'The Lit Mag' as we all call it!

Summer is here and so is the heatwave! This term, we have enjoyed celebrating the Queen's Platinum Jubilee — 70 years on the throne!

We love to show actual pieces of work — straight from the children's books which will still include the teacher's and child's editing marks.

Holding a published copy of your own writing is a great motivator and we hope to encourage you to keep reading, to keep writing and 'Get it Write!'

Dear diary,

The most amazing thing has happened to me. I was riding in the forest. I have heard the sweetest voice I could ever hear. I found out that the voice was coming from a massive tower and I have found out that this tower belonged to a sour sorceress. I circled the tower ten times twenty times and I still haven't found an entrance.

Year 4

Dear diary,

Only yesterday I found a tower and a charming voice came from the top. I circled the tower twenty times. When suddenly, a lady came and said Rapunzel let down your hair. When she went I shouted Rapunzel let down your hair. She was puzzled then she was okay with me. We instantly fell in love she had a baby.

Lukasz, Year 4

Dear diary

I was going back to the tower to see Rapunzel. I called out 'Rapunzel, Rapunzel let down your hair when I climbed up the tower I was shocked. It was the evil sorceress. She let go of the hair and I fell into bushes full of thorns and I went blind. I was heartbroken. I started looking for Rapunzel in the wilderness and I was devastated. I called out Rapunzel's name all day long, but then I heard Rapunzel's voice and I found her after a day of searching. Her tears cured my blindness. After that me and Rapunzel had a baby together and now we are really happy living together as a family with our children in the castle.

 Dear diary,
 You won't believe what happened to me today! I was riding with my glorious horse when I heard the most enchanting voice as smooth and light as maple syrup. I tried my hardest to find her! I was about to give up but no! I just went. I kept looking until I found an old tower. Up above was a girl. She was the one singing. I circled the tower the tower at least 20 times and still couldn't find an entrance. I saw an old cranked looking woman. She said Rapunzel let down your hair!! and so long braids of hair came tumbling down and the old lady climbed up!! I guess that's the only way in.

I stand at the door the sky gapes in surprise the goes dark all around I go in, children chat, children gaze, I look around in confusion I look for an empty chair I see vibrant colours around the massive classroom more like a enormous zoo

We're so proud of Coventry. They have such a good effort for the sky bus. Surely, we will be able to get on the map.

Ruby
Year 5

By tomorrow, we will know if this will get used or canceled. Lots of people have complained about how it "might cause air pollution." On the other hand, quite a lot of people have said "It is a good way to get to work and back on time without traffic."

Eoin
Year 5

A new source of transport is arriving to Coventry! Yesterday, the mayor announced the sky bus.

The project was planned by William Schuster and is being invented by Michael Shireen. "This new sky bus is just going to show how early people are!" commented Chris Carson. "I'm loving the project so far! It will give people a better view!" says Elizabeth Grimwood.

Yesterday, 27th July 2035, the City of Coventry revealed its latest mode of transport. A bus people called the Sky-bus. It is a high technical and evolved masterpiece.

However, this no surprise to us as they have been continuously updating us on the project for the past 3 years. Though when we saw it in person it was an extra-ordinary site that kept everyone's eye on it, the way it swiftly swerved through the air was truly something special.

Fareed
Year 5

Where did it happen? This sky-bus is to be used in Coventry as it is the city which invited it.

Hulaymatou
Year 5

Why did it happen? The sky-bus has been invited to free up congestion on the roads. There will be less traffic.

People don't like the sky bus because some people think it's not safe. They think it might fall when it's flying in the sky and it might get destroyed. Some people think there's better versions of transports, like trains, normal busses. Some people don't like heights so they don't like the sky bus.

Tegan
Year 5

A lot of people say that they love the new arrival. But unfortunately, the same amount of people say they hate it. "I hate the new sky-bus because whatever, how are we supposed to see the sun?" said AJ.

Aima
Year 5

"I love this idea of the sky-bus because I have tried it so many times and it is so fast." said Fatmah.

Yes, many mornings, 8th May 2022, a revolutionary new type of public transport was revealed in Coventry.

This pioneering invention was the brainchild of Elon Musk.

For years, traffic has been a huge problem in Coventry. A sky bus revolution was needed to solve the problem.

 and it slithers like a snake

Then
 Winter arrives the seed sleeps in the dull, damp and buried in the frost, Earth muted and now as pale as a rough tree in the windy breeze

THINK of IT

The little seed took its first shudder.
 In the wet damp soil
 while it lies silently and muted.

Then
 The first warm rain drops
 stroked against the seeds surface. The crater on the soil from the rain droplets smoothed through the day.

I can see charging sea horses. horse

I can see wild, booming waves.

As the eerie clouds come,
Darkness came to land
Like an animal stalking,
Their prey.

The waves are battering like an endless battlefield.

It started to fill the brutal sky,
A wild herd of horses
Start to attack the human,
The violent horses start to charge.

The water is dark as midnight.

When will that person find
Precious shelter?
The girl will look anywhere for an Isolated solace.

The darkness ominous arrives,
Waves stalked him,
Terror fill the dark sky,
Rolling in to death.

He tried to find a place,
An isolated peaceful place,
Anywhere will he find a place?

A jet black sky,
A sky starting to loom,
Loom over the shore.

A brutal strength gaining,
The shock wave of devastating strength being revealed,
Barrage, the process is finished.

An eerie darkness appeared
Rain poured out of the dull clouds,
The treacherous waves gathering power to devour its prey.

She looked everywhere,
Every place that is possible,
What can she find an isolated shelter?

Terror hounded upon the sky,
The water ambushed the wind,
The waves swallowed the island.

Dear, Father,

Ryan

Year 5

I hope you have settled in well in your new home. Mum and I have been devastated ever since you left. Mum is hearts broken but I can't seem to console her. We're desperate for news. We've been so miserable ever since you left (a couple days ago). We feel so incomplete. Ever since you left I am more impatient to see you. We all hope the best for you.

This is a massive terror. Mum and Mother have been isolated. It's getting to the point now we can't go out side. We have no choice but to go outside to escape because it's too late. We've been pushed to the edge of breaking point. The war has captured and destroyed our population. It's been a hell town.

How are you? I wish that you have settled in the unknown land you now live in. I feel miserable without your presence. We cherish and miss you dearly.

The monotonous, escalated terrors have invaded our home. It isn't safe here. The horrors have worsened since you left. Our environment is too hostile and our friends and family have died. They had no time to say goodbye and wherever they are I hope they have found tranquility and peace. Father we will keep you treasured in our hearts.

How are you? I hope you have settled and adapted to your new home. We cherish and miss you dearly. I feel miserable without your presence. We feel incomplete without you. We can't go a second without you on my mind. I hope we have a complete family soon.

Before the horrors destroyed our city, it was full of beauty and humanity but now, the violence and terrors ruined our land. Our city was full of meadows and flowers but after the war, the flowers lie dead on the grey grass. You had no choice other than to escape... it was a crucial goodbye for mother and I.

Mother and I are coming to you in this bizarre flying machine. We're preparing for our own perilous journey. We packed all we could carry with us. We brought supplies like canned food, bottled water and blankets for warmth. It was a tiresome voyage and it took us restless weeks to arrive but we have complete faith in you and mother and I both love you.

To her majesty the Queen,

Jay, Year 5

I am writing this letter to you to congratulate you for your seventy years of service. Also, I am writing to you because I want to thank you for your power and moulding us together. I am also expressing my joy and confidence for your platinum jubilee.

Becoming the Queen at age 25 must have been very challenging and difficult. I am also sorry for your father's death while you were inside of a different country. But I estimate the crown changed your life in such a way it expected your routine and you had mixed emotions.

My name is Esme. I am a pupil at Aldermore Farm Primary School and this letter is to congratulate you on your 70th Jubilee/Platinum Jubilee. This week, we have been learning about your reign. We are also doing and preparing things to celebrate in many different ways, this letter is going to tell you everything and why we appreciate you so much.

This must have been had position to take place as Queen because you were at a young age. It must have had a lot of responsibility to take this position. You must have been nervous and worried over time, you were probably under so much pressure and stress making the right choices. Was it stressful being a queen at such a young age?

Esme, Year 5

Becoming monarch at 25 is a big thing and you did it. You have been a Queen for 70 years that is challenging. It must have been really difficult to become queen when your father died. You must have had mixed emotions. I am sure it must have been really hard for you. It must have been difficult ruling the throne at the young age of 25.

I am writing to thank you for your 70 years of service. I hope you get this letter in good health.

Your Majesty, it must have been hard for you becoming queen at age 25. You must have felt very heart broken when your father passed away.

It must have been very hard to live a normal life when you're queen. It must be very difficult to make decisions for 70 years. It is very hard to live your life when you're queen.

Muammar, Year 5

To your majesty

My name is Ahmad. I am sending this letter to thank you for your service. We are celebrating your Jubilee, in our school, this week.

You inspired us and you are a role model. We appreciate your services and we are really grateful. You are so brave and you always protect us in England.

I just want to say thank you for your seventy years of sacrifices for your country. It must be difficult maintaining your country and your private life.

You have been an inspiration for very many people young or old. We are proud to have such a long serving Queen who will serve us no matter what. You must feel very proud too. I am grateful to have a Queen like you.

My name is Muhamadoun Nasibu Aldermoor Farm School. I am writing to congratulate you for the service and sacrifices you have done over the years. I hope you have a great platinum Jubilee celebration.

Since you took the throne for King George VI your father you must have been anxious because you were on a tour in Kenya. Prince Phillips told you that your father past away so you immediately went back to the UK.

Alfie, Year 5

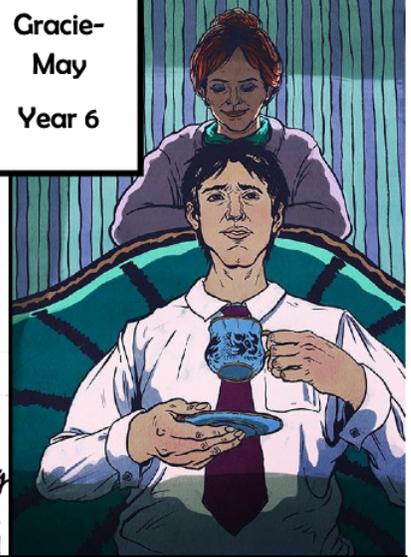

My name is Alfie. I am a pupil at Aldermoor Farm Primary School. I am writing to you to congratulate you on your 70 year platinum Jubilee - we all celebrate got your upcoming 70 year reign on Britain.

I can tell you, we are all grateful for all of your service in Britain and making the right decisions and making Britain the best it can be.

You are a fantastic leader, inspiring in fact to many people a role model. We are all grateful for your service.

When Billy arrived at the house, he spotted 5 stairs leading up to a clean, red door. He walked over to the clear windows and glanced and spotted a small bay, green, velvet curtains, a grand piano, a big sofa, plump armchairs and a stone fireplace. He strolled over to the door knocked on it gently and waited patiently.

I have travelled far to be a spirit-hand witness to something very special. The Aurora Borealis. I was amazed to see a spiral of lime green, turquoise and a sample of ginger. There was hints and turns of royal purple with a hint of magenta. The Aurora Borealis was like flames of fire dancing around the shadowy midnight sky. Suddenly, the slow dance of a flame started mistily swirling and twirling around the dark, pitch-black sky like a dancing ballarina. All of the colours started to merge together and they started to swirl around.

Dear Mum,

What a weird day! First, to fill this letter with happiness, I have found a place to stay. It's not a pub or on the streets it's a nice cozy Bed and Breakfast run by Mrs... Mrs Webb I really don't know. I guess it's ok because she is a kind calm lady in her 40's.

As I was walking, there was a huge sign ~~that said~~ ^{that said} Bed and Breakfast so I went to look. The outside was pretty decent and full of beautiful smelling flowers. Since the outside looked good, I hoped the inside was the same. I stepped in and it was clean pleasant and comfortable looking. I was impressed.

Billy stood outside the house admiring the beautiful flowers. There were also smooth stone steps leading to the house. Billy knocked quietly on the door and a kind lady answered it.

Billy walked into the hallway across the wooden floor. He put his coat on the rack with hardly any other coats on it. The wall was painted a pretty shade of blue. He could hear a clock ticking.

Billy went in the livingroom and sat on the soft sofa and he noticed how clean the house was. The big windows were letting the bright sunlight into the cosy room and the bright green curtains made the big window stand out well.

As approaching the Band B, ^{they} noticed the illuminated scarlet door. In bright golden numbers, it said 97. As the visitors stepped out of the blanket of snow, the owner came with ~~the~~ bubbling hot tea and heavenly scones.

As they sat under the large chandeliers, they drank hot tea and devoured the scones. They listened to the music and watched the owner make their 5 course meals. They slowly walked on the magnificent velvet red carpet that led to the kitchen. It was full of chefs that are helping her cook the meal.

Dear Eliza

I am having the time of my life it is so fun. How are you doing? and I will, happily, growing to be rich. The longer I stay the more money I make. Most of the time I am peeling potatoes and also scrubbing the deck. On the other hand they are all nice rich ^{as} learning different languages.

Early One morning, a man was banished from this island and forced to leave. He was mistreated by most of the island. They said he does not belong. No one treated him with respect except from the fishing man.

All the islanders said, "He doesn't deserve to be on our island."
The man asked, "Why don't I deserve to be on this island?"

The guests have arrived at the front entrance. The guests said that it is clean and they liked the white marble tiles.

In the dining room, there were fresh white table cloths, linen napkins and a table ready set for breakfast and it's illuminated.

As they walked into the sitting room they were shocked because how clean it was. Every thing was organized every thing was set nicely, there was even a brick fire place with a welcoming roar of fire. Some luxurious arm chairs and sofas.

As they were making their way up the first floor they were checking the wooden stairs. It was highly polished hand rails and floral carpet with red roses that is potted.

I have travelled to the frozen plains of Norway, just to witness the Aurora Borealis. It was a very tough journey, forcing myself to stay awake through the snow plowing into my boots, I stand in amazement, jaw in hand. I had finally reached my goal, this goal I've been planning for years now.

The inky darkness was colliding next to a turquoise green. As I stood in awe, my heart jumped. It was a bomb of different colours: neon blue, neon green, soft magenta and glittering yellow. It was a truly mesmerising sight to see. The colours would chase and overlap each other, as if dancing in the night sky. Streaks of colour creased over each other creating a beautiful symphony.

Chelsea, Year 6

As they approached, they see the hall way the aroma smells nice, but on the wall is little stain and there's family photos and the carpet is soft and warm.

The kitchen, ^{they} see that there is lots of: eggs and bacon bread, beans, and these little coffee packets and there aroma is not as pleasant as in the hallway. The fridge is big they have a dishwasher and a small table near the fridge. The kitchen is medium size not that big or small.

I have travelled to Norway and I got at what I had seen. It was a Corrado sh. There were neon lime, magenta and lots of other colours. I gazed up at the storm of colour illuminating the sky with reciprocal colours. I reflected over water and the Aurora burst the clouds and it roared over the town. The Aurora was neon and I was fascinated by it. It was a phenomenon.

There was a mesmerising pattern of colour fading bit by bit. The Aurora sought the clouds to stay but the Aurora was too powerful. A collision of colours had stopped. I realized that it was fading. The spiral had been destroyed. I very quickly went and took photos of it before the loss of this fascinating and beautiful sight. The sight was magical.
